ABOUT US

Brothers Michael & Ibrahim Khatib always wanted to start a company together. So in 2012, they left their jobs, built a cake factory and started Looma's Cakes – what would grow to become Sydney's and indeed Australia's best quality supplier of gourmet cakes, tarts, macarons and profiteroles.

After 9 years in business, they relocated to Moorebank, Sydney – to a state of the art, custom built cake factory. Their gourmet cakes and tarts are distributed Australia-wide.

Ibrahim, also known by his childhood nickname 'Looma', is the head chef and director at Looma's. He runs the business alongside Michael and oversees production. Ibrahim developed his love and passion for cooking over many years spent as a fine dining chef at the Shangri-La Hotel Sydney. Between 2008 & 2011 he ventured into the pastry world at Croquembouche Patisserie in Botany (Sydney), where he learned the art of creating French inspired cakes & pastries.

Michael is the co-founder and director at Looma's. He runs the business alongside Ibrahim and spends his days working on sales and systems. Earning his software engineering degree at UTS in 2005, he worked as a software developer for 5 years and then as an IT analyst. After 10+ years in corporate life he left to pursue his entrepreneurial ambitions, and together with brother Ibrahim launched Looma's in January 2012.
